

Hour 2

Special Guest – Stephanie Stock

Ohio Advocates for Medical Freedom is a non-partisan group advocating for your right to choose or refuse any medical treatment or procedure. OAMF is comprised of ordinary people who have come together with one goal in mind. That goal is the preservation of freedom, more specifically medical freedom.

OAMF is a diverse group of people with professions including doctors, nurses, engineers, lawyers, and other healthcare providers. We all share the same concern and have learned that the only way to stop medical mandates and the infringement on medical rights is to organize and push back against bad legislation and policies. We base our strategies in fact and truth and present that information to the public and legislators. It is important that factual information is presented, so the opposition (the side willing to sacrifice freedom for personal gain) cannot dispute what we present.

Update on Alan Phillips

Alan provided documents ordered, NC Bar claims inadequate, Judge throws Alan in jail for another two days! On Thursday, May 9, 2019, Attorney Alan Phillips was ordered back to jail for another 48hrs! After a 48hr jail penalty for contempt of court last week, where Alan refused to breach attorney client privilege by providing the NC State Bar confidential client files, Alan decided to comply with the court order and appeared in court today in good faith providing all of the documentation that he believed the court had requested. However, the North Carolina State Bar insisted that he had omitted documentation. When Alan repeatedly asked the court to identify what they were specifically seeking that he was missing, he was essentially laughed at, being told that he should know what he's missing and maybe another couple days in jail would give him time to think about it. Alan has done nothing illegal, the NC State Bar has not provided the court any evidence of wrongdoing on Alan's part, and this entire lawsuit is a fishing expedition (which is illegal) to try and discover some wrongdoing on Alan's part in an effort to silence him and/or retaliate against him for filing a complaint against the Bar. Alan, as well as a number of organizations across the country (including OAMF) have filed complaints against the bar through their grievance process and all complaints have been dismissed.
